Tip of the Week

How can I increase student enthusiasm and motivation for learning during the 4th quarter of the school year?

Spring is here! ...and so is Spring Fever.

Are your students experiencing increased fatigue, anticipation, or distractions? Consider the following tips to help keep students on track.

- Frequently cue students about what they should be listening for, learning, and doing. Think: "Where are we going?"
- Provide frequent formative feedback and acknowledge the steps completed to encourage perseverance and build stamina.
Think: "How are we going?"
- Use feedback to maintain the focus on instruction.
Think: "Where to next?"
- Increase students' opportunities to respond using fast paced reviews, choral responses, discussions, responses with technology, etc.
- Incorporate novel hands-on learning tasks, cooperative activities, student teams, timed tasks, and student leadership opportunities.
- Notice and acknowledge active participation and persistence.
- When redirecting students, strive to address the task at hand (or goal) rather than the off-task or inappropriate behavior.
